Dear Hiring Manager,

I am a jack of all trades: production manager, designer, developer, technical designer, patternmaker, seamstress, and so much more. If you need a person who is dedicated, hard working, creative and tenacious, I am your woman.

A natural leader, I have managed design and production teams in China, Bangladesh, Guatemala, and locally in Seattle and Los Angeles. My best qualities as a leader are compassion, empathy, inspiration, and vision.

I speak fluent technical design and know how to provide clear and concise fit comments that help bring the product to life, while managing the bottom line. This pairs well with my ability to flex my design aesthetic to match the company's vision with ease. Constructive criticism helps me grow, and I love working for a company that values growing their employees into lifelong partners.

In my work at WildestWilder, I established a small sewing sample room, established systems and record keeping, and built relationships with cut and sew facilities and patternmakers. I not only managed the sample room, I also did all the product and technical design and fitting for clients as well as sourcing of fabrics and findings. I also did some of the patternmaking and sewing if there is a quick turnaround time. Like I said, I do it all.

Oddli has entrusted to me their patternmaking, product development and technical design for their entire line. In addition, I assist them with sourcing of fabrications and consult with them on the building of their business into a truly sustainable company.

Helping is what I love to do. I hope to help you!
